

Curriculum Vitae

I am María del Socorro López Olmedo, from Mexico.

I obtained my Bachelor's degree in Psychology from La Salle University Pachuca, where I also completed diplomas in Humanities and in Psychology of Development in Childhood, Adolescence, and Adulthood.

Both my professional internships and social service were carried out at the Women's Justice Center of the State of Hidalgo, where I worked with several women in situations of violence, connecting with many women, adolescents, girls and boys through empathy and sensitivity. This experience motivated me to work at the Yo te creo A.C. Association, which focuses on therapeutic work and providing support to individuals experiencing violence.

At that time, I realized I needed to continue my studies in order to deepen my therapeutic work, which led me to join the Mexican Association for the Practice, Research, and Teaching of Psychoanalysis, A.C. (AMPIEP in Spanish), to pursue a Master's degree in Psychoanalytic Research, and later to enter Psychoanalytic Training, where I am currently in my eighth semester.

Throughout these years, I have presented and written various essays, both for OCAL and IPSO. Among these are: an essay on the film "Trainspotting" and another on the book "Lord of the Flies" published in the Insights journal.

For OCAL, I published a paper titled "The Fitness Culture and its Relationship with the Pathology of Acting Out" in the journal Transformación: Ideales en jaque, el porvenir de las ilusiones. I have also participated in various congresses organized by OCAL – Mexico, AMPIEP, and the most recent ABC – OCAL – IPSO, with titles such as: "My Two Supervision Patients Left, What Now?", "Swimming Against the Current," and "Is This Not Psychoanalysis?"

I have served as the representative of AMPIEP to OCAL for three consecutive years and have participated in the organization of national congresses held in Mexico by OCAL.

Currently, I am in the final semester of my Psychoanalytic Training, and I conduct my clinical practice with adolescents and adults on a private basis.